About

Ashley is an experienced attorney with extensive knowledge in the discovery process for complex civil litigation.

Prior to joining Hilgers Graben, Ashley previously worked at McDermott Will & Emery, where she was a key member of the national coordinating counsel discovery team for a Fortune 100 company. She managed a large legal team that conducted complex discovery research and multi-issue intellectual control projects related to ongoing litigation. Additionally, Ashley responded to discovery requests and various discovery filings for cases filed across the country.
